A North Carolina venture capitalist is suing a grifting group that was going to file lawsuits to uncover election fraud for Trump, only to have dropped most of them. Where the millions in money went is anyone’s guess. But Fred Eshelman wants his money back. They offered to give him about 40% in exchange for not taking them to court, but he wants it all back. This is happening in Texas. The organization is called True the Vote Inc, which claims to be an ethics group. That moment you realize ‘Trump’ and ‘ethics’ in the same sentence makes you the sucker. Eshelman reportedly asked for the details on seven lawsuits, but was given basically no answer. All the lawsuits by True the Vote were withdrawn. What is going on here? Simple, a sack of shit capitalist with zero integrity got grifted by a Trump group. Welcome to the free market, folks!
